Z NAMIBIA · MARKETPLACE

Terms of Service

Draft for review · 27 October 2026

> Before launch: These draft terms need review by a Namibian legal professional. Add the operator's registered legal name, physical address, and contact details, and publish a separate Privacy Policy before accepting real payments or expanding the service.

---

1. About these terms

These Terms of Service apply when you access or use Z Namibia (the "Platform"), including its marketplace, shop pages, customer accounts, seller tools, reviews, and customer-support features. "Z", "we", and "us" refer to the operator of the Platform. The operator's registered details must be added before public launch.

By creating an account or using account-only features, you agree to these terms. If you do not agree, do not create an account or use those features. Separate terms may apply to services provided directly by a seller or a payment provider.

2. Who may use Z

You must be legally able to enter into an agreement to use the Platform. If you are not, you may use it only with the involvement and permission of a parent or legal guardian where required by law. You are responsible for providing accurate account information and keeping your sign-in credentials secure.

3. Z is a marketplace

Z provides tools for independent sellers to display products and for customers to discover shops and listings. Unless a listing clearly says otherwise, the seller—not Z—is responsible for the product, its description, price, availability, quality, packaging, delivery, and any shop-specific promises or policies.

We may review, restrict, hide, or remove content or listings to protect users, comply with law, or enforce these terms. A listing being visible does not mean Z has verified every claim made by the seller.

4. Buyer accounts, orders, and checkout

You agree to use accurate information, review your cart and delivery details before submitting an order, and use the Platform lawfully. Product availability and prices may change before an order is submitted.

Prototype checkout: At the time of this draft, checkout creates test orders and simulates payment. It does not charge a card, collect actual payment, or transfer funds. A simulated payment confirmation is not proof that money was paid. Do not rely on this prototype for a real purchase. We will update these terms and checkout disclosures before enabling live payments.

Where the order controls allow it, a buyer may cancel while an order is still pending seller action. The available cancellation options are shown in the account. These prototype controls do not remove or limit any consumer rights that cannot be limited under applicable law.

5. Delivery, returns, and seller policies

Delivery charges are calculated per seller using the rates and delivery area configured for that shop. The checkout displays the applicable estimate before a test order is created. Z does not promise a delivery date unless one is expressly shown in a future live checkout flow.

Shop-specific return, refund, warranty, and exchange policies are set by the seller and should be displayed by that seller. If a shop has not published a policy, contact the seller before relying on one. Nothing in these terms excludes mandatory rights or remedies under applicable consumer-protection law.

6. Seller responsibilities

Sellers must provide accurate shop, product, price, stock, and delivery information; have the rights and approvals needed to offer their products; comply with applicable laws; and respond honestly to orders and customer issues. Sellers must not list illegal, unsafe, counterfeit, or misleading products or misuse customer information.

Seller fees, payout timing, and any future paid add-ons will be disclosed separately before a seller commits to them. Development simulations are not purchases and do not create a right to a payout or a production subscription.

Where business verification is requested, Z collects the registered business name and supporting registration or tax document for manual review. Access to the document is limited to authorized reviewers; the uploaded file is encrypted while stored and deleted after a decision. The business name, verification result, and review note remain on the shop record. A separate Privacy Policy describing personal-data handling is still required before launch.

7. Reviews, messages, and acceptable use

You are responsible for content you submit, including reviews, product information, and support messages. Do not post content that is unlawful, deceptive, abusive, discriminatory, infringing, or that reveals another person’s private information. Reviews should reflect your genuine experience.

We may remove content or limit accounts that violate these terms. You retain ownership of your content, while allowing Z to display and process it as needed to operate the features where you submitted it.

8. Shop AI assistant

A shop assistant may generate answers from the shop profile, active listings, stock, ratings, and other information available on the Platform. Answers can be incomplete or incorrect and are provided for general information only. Confirm important details—especially availability, delivery, warranties, returns, and other seller-specific promises—with the seller before acting. An assistant cannot place an order, confirm payment, or change an account.

9. Availability and changes

We may update, suspend, or discontinue parts of the Platform for maintenance, security, legal, or operational reasons. We will take reasonable steps to communicate material changes where appropriate. Continued use after updated terms take effect means you accept the updated terms, to the extent permitted by law.

10. Disclaimers and liability

We work to keep the Platform available and information useful, but do not guarantee uninterrupted access or that every seller listing is accurate. To the extent permitted by law, Z is not responsible for a seller’s products, conduct, or independent promises, or for indirect losses arising from use of the Platform.

Nothing in these terms excludes or limits liability, consumer rights, or remedies that cannot lawfully be excluded or limited. This section must be reviewed against applicable Namibian law before launch.

11. Governing law and contact

These terms are intended to be governed by the laws of Namibia, subject to any mandatory laws and consumer protections that apply to you. Any dispute process and court venue must be confirmed by Namibian counsel before launch.

For order-related issues, use the support options available in your account. Before launch, add the operator’s registered name, physical address, and a monitored contact email here: [Operator contact details required].